The true attitude is to take life as a field of perpetual study, where one must never stop learning and think that one knows everything there is to know. One can always know more and understand better.

The Mother
The first principle of true teaching is that nothing can be taught. The teacher is not an instructor or task-master, he is a helper and guide. His business is to suggest and not to impose.

SRI AUROBINDO SOCIETY

SACAC is a unit of Sri Aurobindo Society and is located on the campus of the Delhi Branch of the Society.

Sri Aurobindo Society seeks to bring a dynamic spirituality into material life and all its activities, so that global problems can find a true solution, and the dreams of humanity through the ages can be realized.

The Society is a non-profit organization, working throughout the world for individual perfection, social transformation and human unity in diversity. It aims to bring together all those who want to dedicate themselves to the advent of a new world, with no distinction of nationality, religion, caste or gender.

ABOUT US

Started in 2003, the Sri Aurobindo Centre for Arts & Communication (SACAC) is an autonomous, not-for-profit institution for creative learning in arts and communication. We are a unit of Sri Aurobindo Society, Puducherry.

Eighteen years ago, SACAC made a humble beginning as a small media school with 25 students. Today our alumni, comprises over fifteen hundred Art, Media and Communication professionals.

We offer diploma programmes in Photography, Audio Engineering & Music Production, Creative Documentary, Advertising and Public Relations. At SACAC, we believe in carving out a unique journey in creativity for our students and are guided by the fundamental premises of Integral Education as envisaged by Sri Aurobindo and the Mother.

With this in mind we have developed SACAC as a centre of excellence for training in Media Arts and Communication for aspiring students and professionals who would like to use Media as a means of self-development and self-expression, and as an instrument for social progress and change.

Over the years, the institution has grown to be a place with invaluable partners in the form of teachers, mentors and advisors, and most importantly, students. We take pride in the direction we consciously chose for SACAC and in the progress we have made, without compromising on our values and philosophy.

Our Purpose
Creating future leaders in Arts & Mass Media Communication, with the best of human values, working for a world based on truth, harmony, creativity, and beauty.

Our Mission
Being an international centre of educational excellence that develops human faculties to make a conscious individual with an environment that inspires and inculcates values and encourages self-development and self-expression.
FROM THE CHAIRMAN

The purpose of education is not merely to provide information, or training and skills for a professional career. It must also equip us with life skills and be a means of self-discovery and service to others.

Education at SACAC is therefore an integral process, which tries to provide all these, while helping students to develop their faculties, imbibe values and become conscious individuals.

Our energetic and talented faculty and staff are dedicated to these ideals and work hard to create an atmosphere that inspires and encourages self-development and self-expression.

Our hope and vision at SACAC is that of enthusiastic students, growing and transforming into young professionals, who create a new future based on truth, harmony, creativity and beauty.

We invite you to join us on this exciting journey.

Vijay Poddar
Chairman, SACAC
FROM THE DIRECTOR

It is my pleasure to welcome you to Sri Aurobindo Centre for Arts and Communication.

We consider the holistic development of students our primary objective. With a sprawling green campus, and superior technological and infrastructural facilities, the Centre creates an exceptional space for the aesthetic and intellectual growth of our students.

We invest great effort in nurturing personal visions and voices of our students. Instead of confining them to pre-defined moulds, we encourage our students to explore and innovate as creative unique individuals. Our pedagogy introduces them to the best and latest in the practice of film making, photography, audio engineering and Ad & PR. And our faculty, comprising of highly experienced award-winning professionals who are at the frontiers of their fields, ensures that our students acquire advanced understanding and skills, becoming well equipped to join a quality demanding profession.

We take immense pride in the accomplishments of our students and alumni. Over the years, we have had nine very successful photography exhibitions. Films made by our students have earned many accolades and travelled to various national and international film festivals. Graduates from the Ad & PR department are employed with topmost agencies across India. And our audio engineering graduates are working with the most sought-after studios and teams in Delhi, Mumbai and the Indian film industry.

It is our constant endeavour to create a space for learning where all students feel valued and flourish as creative professionals. I therefore hope that you would consider becoming a part of our SACAC family.

Daljeet Wadhwa
Director, SACAC
TEACHING PHILOSOPHY

At SACAC, our teaching philosophy stems from the principles of the Integral Education of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother. In essence, this philosophy emphasizes that teaching is a two-way process involving equal participation of the students and teachers. Our pedagogical principles are designed around this framework.

We promote original thought and innovation. Our students are encouraged to explore and express their creative self. We believe that a teacher is a co-creator with the students, recognizing that each student has a unique, different, and natural capacity for learning.

Mentoring is the keystone of our teacher–student relationship. Our faculty members provide an environment that enables experiential learning and progressive development.

An Optimum Teacher–Student Ratio helps provide personal attention to each of our students and ensures fruitful interactions between faculty and students.

Practicing professionals from the industry are the chief constituents of our faculty pool. Well-versed with the latest happenings in the dynamic world of media, they create an interesting and effective mix of theory and practice in their classes to help students internalize key concepts.

Our dearest wish and ambition for our students, hence our sincere endeavour, is to help each one of them reach an innate understanding of the core of creative expression. All our actions are guided by this central thought and to this end, students are exposed to varied art forms and expressions of creativity. Further, through a guided process they learn to integrate it all into an evolved, unique creative expression of their own which can be applied in the course of work in their chosen field.

But to benefit fully from our institution, a student requires some basic qualities to start with. We expect budding professionals who join us to be individuals of integrity, positive attitude, zeal and determination. The willingness to be a team player, and having respect for oneself and others in equal measure, is a must. An inclination towards developing strong interpersonal skills and having the qualities of reliability and responsibility at all times are imperative too.
The Insights Workshop- Exploring the inner self

“All of us who professionally use the media are the shapers of society. We can vulgarize that society. Brutalize it. Or we can help lift it onto a higher level”

William Bernbach, American Advertising Legend

At SACAC, we go beyond imparting professional skills and relevant knowledge; we strive towards developing human faculties to make a conscious individual, through an environment that inspires and inculcates values and encourages self-development and self-expression.

To achieve this, we have created a programme called ‘Insights’. ‘Insights’ is a structured programme aimed towards students exploring their inner self. It is directed to reach the essential core of a person, the place from where ideas, creativity, drive and vision emerge. Combined with skills, it leads to developing a complete, creative professional.

The Insights Workshop is based on the conviction that it is the noble, spiritual, courageous, ethical part of ourselves, which is our true nature, and this is the part we must discover. As part of the Insights programme, students participate in expert-led workshops, book readings and reviews, sharing of experiences by practitioners/experts and personal mentoring, among other things.
CAMPUS & INFRASTRUCTURE

We are located in the heart of South Delhi on the sprawling green campus of the Delhi branch of the Sri Aurobindo Society. Our 2.5 acre campus houses state of the art classrooms; a library-cum-resource Centre that is well stocked with many titles on arts, photography and communication; an Auditorium; an Amphitheatre; Studios for audiography, videography and photography; Edit rooms; a Meditation Room and a Canteen. We endeavour to provide our students with appropriate equipment of high quality and the latest in technology for a good measure of hands-on experience. All our classrooms are Wi-Fi enabled with projectors and sound systems.

Course Overview
The Post Graduate Diploma in Advertising & Public Relations at SACAC is a 1-year course. This course aims to give the students an understanding of consumers and why they behave the way they do. A thorough understanding of consumers as well as the market helps our students to create effective communication which is the focus of our course.

The mode of instruction in this course is simulation exercises, case study analysis, classroom teaching, guest lectures and off-site and on-site workshops through which students develop a professional toolkit to attain marketing success. The mantra of this course is application and then some more application! In addition to sharing experiences and observations from the industry, our faculty members act as guides for students in their various stages of learning.

After a strong foundation in Integrated Marketing Communication, students may choose their internships in Account Management, Copywriting, Digital Marketing or Public Relations.

Successful completion of the advertising and public relations course opens up a wide range of opportunities in the communications industry. Our students become decision makers in almost any company concerned with consumer/customer communications, including advertising, public relations, promotions, internet marketing, media and client organizations.

Curriculum
The programme has been designed in consultation with industry practitioners from the field of Communication. The endeavour is to orchestrate the learning content in a step-by-step manner so that by the end of the course the student is able to connect all the dots to understand the complete picture of the IMC spectrum.

Course Overview
This diploma course is designed with an approach seeped in practicing the nuances and methods prevalent in the current day music production scenario. The students are engaged in learning not only the theory behind the tools used in the studio but also how they can be used in realizing the sound in their head. The curriculum takes the students through the nuances of music production in a methodical manner. The sessions focus on giving the students a firm grasp on the fundamentals of sound and how through the use of the technology of DAW they can shape their ideas into productions that are release worthy.

The course tries to imbibe the core values of SACAC and tries to inculcate and instill a bend in the thought process of the students, where the routine of practice leads to carving self-expression and the paces of development of ones’ ideas is realized.

The faculty is comprised of seasoned musicians and producers who put these ideas and approaches to practice on a daily basis in their own productions in studios and with bands. The students get ample opportunity and time over the duration of the course to ingrain and imbibe a workflow and approach, from which their work will greatly benefit. The projects done during the duration of the course are designed to make the students explore their ideas and develop them not only technically but also aesthetically.

CERTIFICATE COURSE:
MUSIC PRODUCTION

Course Overview
The Certificate Course in Music Production is an intensive short-term course of three months for musicians as well as music enthusiasts who want to further their skills in music production, arrangement and composition on a Digital Audio Workstation (DAW). The course is taught on Logic Pro X, though all the techniques can be translated to other softwares.

Whether your final goal is to be an electronic music producer, film composer, programmer, and arranger or even to be a ‘bedroom producer’ this unique curriculum will teach you not only the fundamentals of audio and the technical aspects related to music production, but also give you an insight into the aesthetic choices made by music producers, ultimately encouraging you to experiment and find your own way of doing things.

Well-designed exercises will always ensure that at each stage you are ‘learning by doing’. Carefully designed assignments and projects will re-create real world scenarios faced by producers and composers. The skills acquired in this course are used by music industry professionals like Music Directors / Producers, Composers and Songwriters, Arrangers, Programmers and Sequencers, Films Scorers.

The Creative Documentary Course (CDC) is a 24-month post-graduate diploma course in filmmaking.

Course Overview
The Creative Documentary Course (CDC) is the first of its kind in India. Initiated in 2013, the course encourages students to work with image, sound, time and space in ways that are innovative and exploratory, with one primary goal in mind – that of searching for their own voice. We work with the belief that all narratives, themes and subjects have been addressed by someone, somewhere, sometime. True originality lies in the filmmaker’s own perspective, her/his own unique position, reflections and perceptions. Mentored by some of the most eminent names in documentary filmmaking from within and outside India, our students undergo an intensive, creative learning process through consistent exposures to screenings, discussion, lectures and workshops that are formulated to develop a larger understanding of cinema and the world around us. A vital aspect of the course is individual mentoring. Our student intake is deliberately kept low to allow for detailed, personal sessions with faculty at each stage of learning.

Curriculum
The academic term comprises 4 semesters. In broad strokes, the curriculum addresses:

Practice
• Introduction to documentary practice
• Conceptualization, research, pre production
• Production; post-production
• Individual and group filmmaking exercises and projects
• Student productions – a mid-term location film project and the final Diploma film, among others

Understanding the Context
• Varied practices of contemporary documentary filmmaking
• Documentary history and theory
• Critical ethical and aesthetic concepts concerning documentary
Film Viewing and Analysis
• Film screenings with contextual discussion
• Developing critical and analytical skills through conversations, presentations and written exercises
• Sessions with eminent filmmakers through workshops and lectures
• Film screenings

Expanding the Mind
• Field visits to diverse locations to experience space and time in a multiplicity of ways
• Exposure and sensitization to various facets of life, art and politics through site visits to screenings, performances and exhibitions

Faculty
Sameera Jain (Course Director)

Visiting Faculty
Eminent film/ art practitioners are invited through the academic term for workshops that explore the technical, aesthetic and conceptual aspects of documentary practice, and for film screenings followed by comprehensive discussion on various aspects of filmmaking.

Some eminent practitioners, artists and scholars from India and abroad who have been invited to teach and interact with the students include—Amar Kanwar, Amit Mahanti, Anirban Datta, Ankit Pogue, Anugyan Nag, Anupama Chandra, Asheesh Pandya, Avijit Mukul Kishore, Gargi Sen, Gustav Hamos, Ira Bhaskar, Iram Ghufran, Kersti Uibo, Laura Di Nitto, Maya Rao, Nilita Vachani, Nirmal Chander, Priya Sen, Priyanka Chhabra, R. SACAC School of Photography offers a 12-month course that is dedicated to making students technically sound and in helping them realize their unique visual aesthetic.

Course Overview
The Post Graduate Diploma in Professional Photography enables students to practice photography as a language and a craft that transcends genres and engages with all areas and branches of image making. The curriculum focuses on technical and aesthetic expertise; intellectual, conceptual, and contextual papers, like philosophy, history, politics and research; and professional development skills. Through a variety of teaching methods, students are trained to not just create better images, but they are also enabled to articulate ideas, read photographs and write about them. The course stresses upon the ability to create new meaningful bodies of photographic work that are socio-culturally and historically informed, and works that can contribute to the development of the art and practice of photography. The course provides students with knowledge and skills to work as professional photographers in diverse genres such as journalism, documentary, editorial, fashion or advertising, and equips students with abilities to launch their photographic practice and careers.

Field Research & Photography Workshop
The SACAC School of Photography offers a field research program that makes it stand out among photography schools in India. Every year the students travel to Pondicherry, away from the dictates of the classroom to immerse themselves into their craft. This workshop provides the students with opportunities to ideate, conceptualize, investigate and execute a project within a short span under the guidance of a professional photographer.

Annual Photography Exhibition
The last semester of the course allows the students using all the skills acquired during the course to focus on a photo project that best defines their understanding of the photographic art form. The photography course then culminates with an exhibition of this project. An annual affair, the photography exhibition is held in the lush green SACAC campus in Delhi and the India Habitat Centre. The students are involved in the entire process — that of printing, framing and laying out of the exhibition itself. During the weeklong exhibition, distinguished photographers and magazine and agency editors are invited for interactive sessions with the students and to review their portfolio.

International Collaborations
SACAC has partnered with a number of international artists, photographers and institutions to conduct workshops with our students.

Joining SACAC is about journeys. We co-travel to discover and learn. It’s not a linear, fated track. Here learning is about reaching the core of the person, the depths from where creativity springs forth and takes a form—a film, a photograph, a song. It’s about mastering a skill till it becomes an art. Finding your wings and discovering the sky.

SACAC is about the world—the world within and outside; immediate and beyond. Come experience this world.
